The Louisiana State Museum presents Barbarin Family of Jazz Foundation. The Barbarin Family has played an important role in the continuing history of jazz music in New Orleans and the world. It all started with Isidore Barbarin, joint founder of the Onward Brass Band. His son, drummer Paul Barbarin, divided his time between Chicago, New York, and New Orleans from the 1920's to the 1950's playing with Joe "King" Oliver and Louis Armstrong to name a few. From the 1950's until his death in 1969 he was a bandleader and composer. His name lives on today whenever a band plays "Bourbon St. Parade" or "Paul Barbarin's Second Line". Paul's brother, Louis, also played the drums and helped define jazz drumming in New Orleans. Recording artist and trombonist Lucien Barbarin is Paul's great-nephew and performs with Preservation Hall and Harry Connick, Jr. There is also a connection to the great guitarist Danny Barker who was Isidore's cousin. Members of the Barbarin Family are coming to New Orleans from across the United States to celebrate their family's incredible contribution to American Music.. ($10.50 – See <http://musicatthemint.org/category/blog/upcoming-events/> for more information.)

Join us as we honor St. Cecila Day with a symposium of Women and Jazz. New Orleans, music always acknowledged its feminine side: from the arrival of the Ursuline nuns and their choral traditions, through traveling 19th century European sopranos who amazed concert-goers, through Creole folk songs, to glorious gospel, to the blues, and to the women who made jazz great. This lecture, with ample audio and video highlights of performers, surveys three centuries of performing women and the music they made in our city. Tulane Professor Carloyn Colb is the guest Presenter

2:00-3:00pm

St. Cecila Day is the patroness saint of musicians, known in Latin as Sancta Caecilia. In honor of the patroness saint of music, an All-Female Jazz band led by New Orleans own Chloe Feoranzo, will serenade and honor St. Cecila with contemporary Jazz compositions and jazz Standards.
